

Therapy and support following severe injury

Royal Rehab
Empowering Independence

Multidisciplinary rehabilitation from the experts

Rehabilitation is an important part of the recovery process following a severe injury, helping you to regain abilities, improve independence and quality of life. It can also support you to recover mentally and emotionally from the trauma you have experienced.

There is no better place than Royal Rehab for treatment or rehabilitation following severe injury.

We are highly regarded for specialist brain and spinal cord rehabilitation, as well as our personalised multidisciplinary approach. Our programs are specifically designed to support people who have experienced a traumatic brain injury, spinal cord injury, severe burns or amputation. Our expert team of clinicians has particular expertise in treating people with dual diagnoses or complicated injuries.

Our therapies include:
